Sun Prairie Utilities Awards Scholarships to Local Students

Sun Prairie, Wis. – Sun Prairie Utilities recently awarded two $1,000 scholarships to Sun Prairie High School seniors. SPU selected Adam Jasensky and Aidan Euclide to receive the Public Power Scholarship based on criteria, including academic achievement, community involvement, charitable work, extracurricular activities, and future goals and plans. Jasensky is planning to attend the University of Wisconsin - Madison in the fall to study Environmental Engineering. Euclide will attend the University of Wisconsin – Madison to study Atmospheric and Oceanic Science.

“Supporting local students is important to us,” says Utility Manager Rick Wicklund. “The scholarship program is a way for our locally owned, not-for-profit utility to invest back into the community.”

Sun Prairie Utilities provides scholarships annually for students entering college or technical school training from the Sun Prairie community. Students with an interest in careers related to power, water, and utility management are encouraged to apply. For more information visit sunprairieutilities.com.
